

The Explorers Club
THE EXPLORERS CLUB,
 THE LIBRARY AND THE MAP ROOM

Quirky, original, and the brainchild of an energetic pair of incurably adventurous travellers, Jo Sinfield and Tom Priday, The Explorers' Club is a collection of unique 'places to stay' that breaks the boundaries of ordinary 'self catering'. Each of the four 'cottages' receives ongoing accolades from visitors, and this quirky portfolio now enjoys inclusion in The Boutique Hoteliers Hall of Fame, recognition given by I-escape.com, an award-winning website dedicated to helping discerning independent travellers find and book exciting and unusual places to stay in some of the world's most beautiful and fascinating locations.

A reader's joy, The Library houses an unsurprising number of books, and The Map Room, located in one of the oldest and grandest, yet untarred, streets of Franschhoek, Cabrière Street, features a spiral staircase leading from the downstairs bedrooms to the spacious upstairs living area, where six folding glass doors open onto a deck with a glorious view of vineyards and mountains. And the Explorers' Club itself, built on the site where the tin railway ticket office used to stand, creates a sanctuary away from the bustle of the vibrant main street, its atmosphere conjuring up images of exciting adventures, places to see and people to meet ...
